Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Guiles, Jr. (5,538,471), in view of either Lohr et al (6,878,177 B2) or the Korean Patent (KR 1020030016787 A).

Guiles, Jr. discloses an air cleaner comprising a cabinet (12) including an inlet drawing a room air, and an outlet discharging a cleaned air to a room, a filter assembly (24) provided inside the cabinet so as to remove dust and particles from the room air drawn through the inlet, a fan (22) provided inside the cabinet so as to discharge the cleaned air to the outlet after drawing the room air, and a sensor assembly (92) provided inside the cabinet so as to sense the room air contaminants drawn through the inlet. Guiles, Jr. also discloses the air cleaner including a sensor (70) measuring a temperature inside the room, a sensor (84) measuring a dust content of the room air, a sensor (88) measuring the humidity inside the room, and that the air cleaner further comprising a cooling (26) and a heating (28) device provided inside the cabinet (12) so as to cool or heat the cleaned air. Claims 1-20 differ from the disclosure of Guiles, Jr. in that the air cleaner has a sensor to sense composition of the room air. Lohr et al disclose a chamber of an incubator including a humidity sensor (128), a CO2 sensor (130) which may be of a thermal conductivity or infrared variety (col. 5, lines 15-19). The Korean reference discloses a sensor assembly for an indoor air quality control system comprising component sensors arranged in certain array to measure temperature, humidity, oxygen, carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide and malodorous components of the indoor air (see Abstract). It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a sensor to measure composition of air as taught either by Lohr et al or the Korean reference since the sensor will proactively check the degree of contaminants in the air stream and trigger a response of the air cleaner to clean or remove undesired contaminants out of the room air and to protect the user in the room.
